FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL. MONEY MARKET.

There was a better feeling in the stock market to-day; but most of the purchases were on time, buyer's option. here were very large transactions in all the leading sent; illinois Central Bonds, ½; Cumberland, ½; Eric ailroad, ¼; Michigan Southera, 1; Reading Railroad, ¼; Michigan Southera, 1; Reading Railroad, ; Cleveland and Toledo, ½. Hudson Railroad declined ½ or cent; illinois Central Railroad, ½; Cleveland and Pittsing, ½. Illinois Central bonds sold to the extent of 60,000. All other bonds were quiet.

After the adjournment of the board, the following tooks were sold at auction by A. H. Muller:—

when the rottenness of such a huge monster as the Central is exposed, a desperate effort is made by certain cliques to sustain, and if possible inflate the market prices, to calm the apprehensions of out-side holders. Combinations are therefore formed for purchasing, and the immediate effect is seen in a temporary advance in prices. This is the time for small holders to realise. When speculators are buying to keep up the market is the time for outiders to sell. This action is only spasmodic and cannot be sustained. It would have been better to have sold a few weeks since, but the fiscal year is nearly closed and those who hold the stock at anything like current The annexed statement exhibits the quantity and value of foreign dry goods entered at this port for consumption, for warehouse, and also the withdrawals from warehouse, during the week ending and including Thursday, Sept. 27, than that of the preceding ene—the falling off in the demand from the country having been more than compensated for by the improved local inquiry, and as sea-sonable productions have not been pressed on the market, previous quotations for desirable articles have been genecally well supported. If there be anything of a languid feeling apparent it is in domestic fabrics, the production of which, though reduced, seems to outstrip the requirements of buyers. Foreign goods are firmly held, in view of the moderate and well assorted imports and stocks on hand.

A pretty active inquiry exists for brown and bleached sheetings and shirtings, at, however, rather weak prices.

More activity is discernable in cotton flannels, at strengthmore activity is dissernable in cotton fianners, at strength-ening figures. The supply is light and decreasing. A moderate business is being transacted in denims, drills and duck, within our old range. Ginghams are in fair request and are firm. There is not much movement in ns: manufacturers are engaged on spring styles, of which a good supply is promised. Nankeens have not varied. Osnaburgs are saleable and steady. Printing cloths are less freely offered at full prices, but rule quiet ticks display no really new feature. Woollen goods are in moderate stock and are pretty firmly held, but are not very brisk. A fair inquiry prevails for blankets at previous prices. There is considerable animation in cassimeres, cloths and doeskins, at unchanged figures. Flannels are quiet and rather languid. Jeans and linseys seem less active, and infirm in value. Mouselin de es are tolerably brisk and buoyant. A fair demand exists for satinets, at former quotations. Shawls are un-altered. Tweeds are attracting increased attention, at needed, and on this account the business is somewhat restricted; but as far as regards prices there is no noticeable change. The imports are quite moderate, and though mainly entered for consumption direct, they seem insufficient to maintain a good assortment on the market. Those having desirable supplies are fluding ready buyers therefor, at the state of the state of the whole those whose stocks are not exactly suited to the taste of purchasers experience considerable difficulty in selling them, and when they do effect a sale it is only by consenting to accept such prices as are offered there-for by buyers. These are the leading features of the trade in every channel.

The quantity and value of certain articles imported into this port during the week ending, and including Friday, Sept. 28th, 1855, were as follows:—
